ELECTRONIC ACCESS POLICY

I. GENERAL

The Company provides some, if not all, employees with electronic access, consisting of an e-mail system, a network connection, and Internet/Intranet access. This policy governs all use of the Company's network, Internet/Intranet access, and e-mail system at all Company locations and offices. This policy includes, but is not limited to, electronic and online e-mail, chat rooms, the Internet, news groups, electronic bulletin boards, social networking sites, the Company's Intranet and all other Company electronic messaging systems.

EMAIL

II. E-MAIL POLICIES AND PROCEDURES

The Company's e-mail system is designed to improve service to our customers, enhance internal communications, and reduce paperwork. Employees using the Company's e-mail system must adhere to the following policies and procedures:

- The Company's e-mail system, network, and Internet/Intranet access are intended for business-use only. Employees may access e-mail and the Internet for personal use only during non-working hours, and strictly in compliance with the terms of this policy.
- * All information created, sent, or received via the Company's e-mail system, network, Internet, or Intranet, including all e-mail messages and electronic files, is the property of the Company. Employees should have no expectation of privacy regarding this information. The Company reserves the right to access, read, review, monitor, copy all messages and files on its computer system at any time and without notice. When deemed necessary, the Company reserves the right to disclose text or images to law enforcement agencies or other third parties without the employee's consent.

- Use extreme caution to ensure that the correct e-mail address is used for the intended recipient(s).
- Any message or file sent via e-mail must have the employee's name attached.
- Personal e-mail accounts are not permitted unless expressly authorized in advance by the Company's Chief Information Officer.
- Alternate Internet Service Provider connections to the Company's internal network are not permitted unless expressly authorized by the Company and properly protected by a firewall or other appropriate security device(s) and/or software.
- Confidential information should not be sent via e-mail unless encrypted by Company approved encryption software and according to established Company procedure in affect at the time of transmittal. This includes the transmission of customer financial information, Id numbers, employee health records, or other confidential material.
- Employees must provide the System Administrator and/or Chief Information Officer with all passwords.
- Only authorized management personnel are permitted to access another person's e-mail without consent.
- Employees should exercise sound judgment when distributing messages. Client-related messages should be carefully guarded and protected. Employees must also abide by copyright laws, ethics rules, and other applicable laws.
- E-mail messages must contain professional and appropriate language at all times. Employees are prohibited from sending abusive, harassing, intimidating, threatening, and discriminatory or otherwise offensive messages via email. Sending abusive, harassing, intimidating, threatening, discriminatory, or otherwise offensive messages via e-mail will result in disciplinary action up to and including termination.
- E-mail usage must conform to the Company's harassment and discrimination policies.
- Use of the Company's e-mail system to solicit for any purpose, personal or otherwise, without the consent of the Company is strictly prohibited.
- Chain messages and executable graphics and/or programs should be deleted. Any employee engaging in the transmission of inappropriate e-mails, as determined by management, will be subject to disciplinary action, up to and including termination.
- Employees should archive messages to prevent them from being automatically deleted. All messages archived in the Company's computer system shall be deemed Company property, as is all information on the Company's systems. Employees are responsible for knowing the Company's e-mail retention policies.
- Misuse and/or abuse of electronic access, including but not limited to, personal use during working hours, copying or downloading copyrighted materials, visiting pornographic sites or sending abusive e-mail messages will result in disciplinary action, up to and including termination.

Violation of any of these policies will subject an employee to disciplinary action, up to and including termination.

NETWORK AND INTERNET POLICY

III. PERSONAL RESPONSIBILITY

By accepting an account password, related information, and accessing the Company's Network or Internet system, an employee agrees to adhere to the Company policies regarding their use. You also agree to report any misuse or policy violation(s) to your supervisor or the Company's Chief Information Officer.

IV. PERMITTED USE AND TERM

Use of the Network and the Internet is a privilege, not a right. Use of Network and Internet access extends throughout an employee's term of employment, providing the employee does not violate the Company's policies regarding Network, Internet or Intranet use.

The Company specifically prohibits its employees from accessing the following types of sites using company computers:

- a. Gambling sites
- b. Auction sites
- c. Hate sites
- d. Pornographic sites
- e. Social Networking sites
- f. Private / Personal email sites
- g. Chat sites / chat software utilizing the internet
- h. Chat rooms
- i. Any site engaging in or encouraging illegal activity

The company reserves the right to use monitoring software to make sure the company's IAUP is being adhered to by its employees. The company may record and/or monitor one or more employees' computer and Internet activity for any reason and without any specific notice.

V. AVAILABILITY AND ACCESS

The Company reserves the right to suspend access at any time, without notice, for technical reasons, possible policy violations, security or other concerns.

VI. CONTENT AND COMMUNICATIONS

The Company, at its sole discretion, will determine what materials, files, information, software, communications, and other content and/or activity will be permitted or prohibited.

VII. PRIVACY

* Network and Internet access is provided as a tool for our organization's business. The Company reserves the right to monitor, inspect, copy, review, and store at any time, without prior notice, any and all usage of the Network and the Internet, as well as any and all materials, files, information, software, communications, and other content transmitted, received or stored in connection with this usage. All such information, content, and files are the property of the Company. An employee should have no expectation of privacy regarding them. Network administrators may review files and intercept communications for any reason, including but not limited to maintaining system integrity and ensuring employees are using the system consistently with this Policy.

VIII. DOWNLOADED FILES

Files are not to be downloaded from the Internet without the prior authorization of management. Any files authorized for download from the Internet must be scanned with virus detection software before being opened. Employees are reminded that information obtained from the Internet is not always reliable and should be verified for accuracy before use.

IX. CONFIDENTIAL INFORMATION

Employees may have access to confidential information about the Company, other employees and clients. With the approval of management, employees may use e-mail to communicate confidential information internally to those with a need to know. Such e-mail must be marked "Confidential." For purposes of this policy, confidential information includes, but is not limited to:

- (a) Procedures for computer access and passwords of the Company's clients and customers, program manuals, user manuals, or other documentation, run books, screen, file, or database layouts, systems flowcharts, and all documentation normally related to the design or implementation of any computer programs developed by the Company relating to computer programs or systems installed either for customers or for internal use;
- (b) Lists of present clients and customers and the names of individuals at each client or customer location with whom the Company deals, the type of equipment or computer software they purchase or use, and information relating to those clients and customers which has been given to the Company by them or developed by the Company, relating to computer programs or systems installed;
- (c) Lists of or information about personnel seeking employment with or who are employed by the Company;
- (d) Prospect lists for actual or potential clients and customers of the Company and contact persons at such actual or potential clients and customers;
- (e) Any other information relating to the Company's research, development, inventions, purchasing, engineering, marketing, merchandising, and selling.

X. PROHIBITED ACTIVITIES

Employees are prohibited from using the Company's e-mail system, network, or Internet/Intranet access for the following activities:

- Downloading software without the prior written approval of the Company's Chief Information Officer.
- Printing or distributing copyrighted materials. This includes, but is not limited to, software, articles and graphics protected by copyright.
- Using software that is not licensed by the manufacturer or approved by the Company.
- Sending, printing, or otherwise disseminating the Company's proprietary data, or any other information deemed confidential by the Company, to unauthorized persons.
- Operating a business, soliciting money for personal gain or otherwise engaging in commercial activity outside the scope of employment.
- Searching for outside employment.
- Making offensive or harassing statements based on race, color, religion, national origin, veteran status, ancestry, disability, age, sex, or sexual orientation.
- Sending or forwarding messages containing defamatory, obscene, offensive, or harassing statements. An employee should notify their supervisor and/or Human Resource manager immediately upon receiving such a message. This type of message should not be forwarded.
- Sending or forwarding a message that discloses personal information without Company authorization. This shall also include accessing, transmitting, receiving, or seeking confidential information about clients or fellow employees without authorization.
- Sending ethnic, sexual-preference or gender-related slurs and/or jokes via e-mail. "Jokes", which often contain objectionable material, are easily misconstrued when communicated electronically.
- Sending or soliciting sexually oriented messages or images.
- Attempting to access or visit sites featuring pornography, terrorism, espionage, theft, or drugs.
- Gambling or engaging in any other criminal activity in violation of local, state, or federal law.
- Engaging in unethical activities or content.
- Participating in activities, including the preparation or dissemination of content, which could damage the Company's professional image, reputation and/or financial stability.
- Permitting or granting use of an email or system account to another employee or persons outside the Company. Permitting another person to use an account or password to access the Network or the Internet, including, but not limited to, someone whose access has been denied or terminated, is a violation of this policy.
- Using another employee's password or impersonating another person while communicating or accessing the Network or Internet.
- Introducing a virus, harmful component, corrupted data or the malicious tampering with any of the Company's computer systems

XI. COMPUTER EQUIPMENT

The following policies are designed to reduce repair costs, maintain the integrity of our system and protect the Company's assets. Employees should adhere to the following:

- Do not keep liquids or magnets on or near the computer.
- Do not remove any computer from the building without written permission from management.
- Do not transport disks back and forth between home and office. This will help minimize exposure to viruses.

XII. COMPLIANCE

Though each individual is responsible for his/her own actions, management personnel are responsible for ensuring employee compliance with Company policy.

Any employee aware of a policy violation should immediately report the violation to their supervisor, the Company's Chief Information Officer and/or the Human Resource manager.

Employees who violate this policy and/or use the Company's e-mail system, network, Internet, or Intranet access for improper purposes will be subject to disciplinary action, up to and including termination.

XIII. NONCOMPLIANCE

Violation of these policies will result in disciplinary action up to and including termination.

SOFTWARE USAGE POLICY

XIV. SOFTWARE USAGE POLICIES AND PROCEDURES

Software piracy is both a crime and a violation of the Company's Software Usage Policy.

Employees are to use software strictly in accordance with its license agreement. Unless otherwise provided in the license, the duplication of copyrighted software (except for backup and archival purposes by designated managerial personnel) is a violation of copyright law. In addition to being in violation of the law, unauthorized duplication of software is contrary to the Company's standards of employee conduct.

To ensure compliance with software license agreements and the Company's Software Usage Policy, employees must adhere to the following:

1. Employees must use software in accordance with the manufacturer's license agreements and the Company's Software Usage Policy. The Company licenses the use of computer software from a variety of outside companies. The Company does not own the copyright to software licensed from other companies. Employees acknowledge they do not own software or its related documentation. Employees may not make additional copies of software, unless expressly authorized by the software publisher. The only exception will be a single copy, as authorized by designated personnel, for backup or archival purposes.
2. The Company does not condone and prohibits the unauthorized duplication of software. Employees illegally reproducing software will be subject to disciplinary action. In addition, employees illegally reproducing software may be subject to civil and criminal penalties including fines and imprisonment.
3. Any employee who knowingly makes, acquires, or uses unauthorized copies of computer software licensed to the Company, or who places or uses unauthorized software on the Company's premises or equipment shall be subject to disciplinary action, up to and including termination.
4. Employees are not permitted to install their personal software onto the Company's computer system. Employees are not permitted to copy software from the Company's computer system for installation on home or other computers without prior authorization.
5. In cases that require an employee to use software at home, the Company will purchase an additional copy or license. Any employee issued additional copy(s) of software for home use acknowledges that such additional copy(s) or license(s) purchased for home use are the property of the Company. Employees who are required to use software at home should consult with the Chief Information Officer or Systems Administrator to determine if appropriate licenses allow for home use.
6. Employees are prohibited from giving software or fonts to clients, customers, vendors, and other persons not in the employ of the Company. Under no circumstances will the Company use software from an unauthorized source, including, but not limited to, the Internet, home, friends and/or colleagues.
7. Employees who suspect or become aware of software misuse are required to notify their supervisor, Chief Information Officer, Human Resources manager, or department manager.
8. All software used on Company-owned computers will be purchased through appropriate procedures. Consult your supervisor, Chief Information Officer, Human Resources manager or department manager for proper procedures.
